

WHY DOING BUSINESS WITH E.T. COMMUNICATIONS MAKES SENSE

E.T. Communications understands that nothing is more critical than your business' communications. Our business is keeping your business connected. Since 1996, E.T. Communications Principals have focused exclusively on business customers. We provide every customer with comprehensive data and communications services and the very best customer service.

E.T. Communications offers a full array of communications products and services to customers across the Southeast and Midwest. Every day, customers are choosing E.T. Communications for so many reasons, including the following:

Ease of transition. E.T. Communications knows that making the move to a new provider should be simple and straightforward. E.T. Communications customer-friendly provisioning process is outstanding—our team knows how to provision services quickly and efficiently, and our back-office support ensures your data and voice connections are reliable. We strive every day to ensure that doing business with E.T. Communications is a pleasant experience!

Bundled products. The ability to bundle all of your communication needs is another reason customers are selecting E.T. Communications. Whether you choose voice, data, or one of our many enhanced features, we want your solution to exactly fit your needs. We will develop a customized communications and data plan that will grow with your company. E.T. Communications is continually updating products and services to ensure that your communications solution is the best available anywhere.

Solid business model. E.T. has partnered with some of the best of Class Carriers in the Industry that have well over 1,000,000,000 data and voice lines in service, and they provide second-to-none communications services to thousands of customers across the Southeast and Midwest.

A partner for your business. Our goal is to become a vital partner in your business, working closely with you to create an individualized communications plan that is the most ideal and productive for your business. That saves you and your business time and money.

Service now and after the sale. The providers that we have chosen to partner with provide around-the-clock network management by industry-certified professionals in network design, integration, and ongoing support.

The flexibility to change as you change. E.T. is dedicated to a long and mutually beneficial relationship with our customers. We are honored to provide your business with the most advanced data and voice solutions. The growth of our business depends on the success of your business. We never forget that. If your needs change, we'll do our best to quickly make necessary adjustments to your service. We want your relationship with E.T. Communications to be the best possible!

Many successful businesses have benefited by making the switch to E.T. Communications. They're getting a better value and enjoying top quality Customer Care that absolutely exceeds the competition. Best of all, through a customized communications plan, they're watching their businesses grow and succeed.

E.T. Communications looks at each relationship as a lasting relationship. We want our current customers to be our customers next year, in five years, in ten years, and longer. We are committed to keeping our customers happy, and to keeping our customers, as E.T. customers, well into the future.